Description: Since 2000, Digital Ventures, LLC has been an adult video and photo production company.

We have been developing our own in-house membership signup, recurring billing, and member management system for about three months. It is written entirely in Perl and designed to allow for fully automated web-based signup and administration of new memberships.

We are looking for a developer to finish the program from its current state and get it into beta. It is very close to beta. There are some features not yet implemented in the code. All of the code will need to be further debugged.

We are looking for somebody who will not job-hop, desires long-term employment and, if working as a contractor, plans on offering an ongoing support and maintenance agreement.

We require a reliable, self-directed, productive developer.

Full-time hires will be modified to part-time or contract upon project completion.
